Thousands Homeless, 7 Dead In Ohio Flood

Cincinnati, O., March 7 (AP) — Still-rising flood waters of rivers and tributaries along a 1,000 miles of midwestern lowlands today has made thousands homeless, taken at least 7 lives and dealt a staggering blow to the making of munitions.

The Ohio river — from its headwaters at Pittsburgh all the way to the Mississippi — rose toward levels reached only twice before in history.

The storied and sung Mississippi ran into low-lying residential districts, forcing hundreds of families out. Waters of the White river in Arkansas threatened levees further south and military forces were pressed into duty to reinforce the barriers.

ALLISON TRACES PARK, CEMETERY ESTABLISHMENT

A history of the Gettysburg National Park and the Gettysburg National Military cemetery was presented in a talk by William H. Allison, National cemetery superintendent, to the monthly meeting of the Adams County Historical society Tuesday night at the court house.

Dr. Henry Stewart, association president, presided at the session. Dr. Robert Portenbaugh acted as secretary in the absence of Dr. Frank Clutz. Three presentations were made to the association. John A. Mumper, Baltimore street, presented the group with 13 photographs taken during the 1880's by his father, Levi Mumper. The pictures show construction of the Western Maryland railroad through Jack's mountain west of Fairfield.

The second gift was a book, "Little Pilgrim to Penn's Woods," written by Edna Albert, an Adams county resident. The author resides near Gardners and laid her story in the northern part of the county. The book was presented by Joseph Arnold, of Dormont. F. K. Swartz, Carlisle street, presented the society with a copy of the original published edition of the dirge used at the dedication of the National cemetery.

In his talk, Mr. Allison described the origin and growth first of the cemetery association, and then of the old battlefield association. The move to construct the cemetery began a few days after the battle when the governor visited the field and found an estimated 10,000 dead and 21,000 wounded men of both armies.

Vets of Four Wars

In his talks with David Willis prominent local attorney, it was decided that Mr. Willis would act as agent for the state in the care of the wounded and the burying of the dead. The first move in the organization of a cemetery was the purchase of eight acres of land along the Baltimore pike, and eventually five tracts containing 17 acres in all, were acquired.

Thirty-four bids ranging from $1.59 to $8 were received from contractors. (Please Turn to Page 5)

Oder Front Aflame; Allies Sweep Rhineland

Paris, March 7 (AP)—The powerful American Third Army drove routed Germans to within 15 miles of the middle Rhine today while the First Army fought within three miles of Bonn, 15 miles south of fallen Cologne.

The dashing Third Army tanks were reported at supreme headquarters to be near Montreal, a crossroads town just short of Mayern. The report, far behind actual progress, placed the Fourth Armored Division within 20 miles of Coblenz and 50 of the large Rhine cities of Mainz and Weisbaden.

On this fateful anniversary of Hitler's militarization of the now overrun Rhineland, the prisoner toll for all Allied armies on the western front passed the million mark and rose above 100,000 for the current campaign which started January 30 with Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's plunge into the Siegfried line east of Luxembourg.

A graveyard of German cities stretched from Cologne 50 miles back to the Reich frontier. After that fourth city of Germany fell late yesterday the American First and Ninth armies cleared the whole west bank of the Rhine from Rheinberg south to Cologne save for a fractional pocket at Zons, just south of Dusseldorf. The distance was 45 airline miles but nearer 70 as the Rhine flows.

Single Nazi Pocket

The last sizable German bridgehead west of the lower Rhine opposite Wesel was hammered down to a strip eight miles long and up to five miles wide. On Monday, 50,000 Germans were estimated to be in the pocket. Many have fled, but now the last two bridges at Wesel are virtually impassable.

Nazi troops who survived the debacle of Cologne fled south along the Rhine toward Bonn, a city of 101,000 and the birthplace of Beethoven. The First Army's Ninth division fought at dawn in the village of Alfthen, only three miles from Bonn.

Like Cologne, Bonn lies almost defenseless in the west bank of the castled Rhine.

Many Prisoners, Losses Light

Maj. Gen. Hugh Gaffey's Fourth armored division approached the middle Rhine in the Coblenz area after a 37-mile sweep since early Monday. His tanks and infantry captured vast stores of booty—stacked for miles along the road and captured German command—er of the 53rd Corps, Lt. Gen. Graf Von Rothkirch.

The Third Army dash toward the Rhine outflanked the Saar industrial district from the north, just as the Seventh Army outflanked it from the south.

Prisoners were taken by the thousands. The whole German line in the rugged Eifel was collapsing. Third Army losses were extremely light. Associated Press correspondents Edward D. Ball and Thoburn Wiant wirelessly.

Bastogne General Taken

The Fourth armored division, a star unit of the Third Army, was plunging toward the Rhine in a narrow corridor—sometimes only the width of a road—extending like a crooked finger northeastward from the Kyll bridgehead east of Bitburg. Infantry followed the Fourth armored division in vehicles of all descriptions.

The captured Gen. Rothkirch was the commander who besieged Bastogne in Belgium and who got the epic reply of "nuts" from Brig. (now Maj.) Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe to his demand for surrender of the 101st Airborne division. The Fourth armored division which captured the general and his staff was the same which broke the Bastogne siege.

Cologne and its vast ruins was the largest city to fall either in this war or the last. Its 768,000 peacetime population made it the size of Boston proper. Though shattered by repeated bombings, it still is the greatest traffic center in western Germany and was the site of vast and varied industries. Surprisingly, most Germans appeared friendly as conquering tanks and foot troops moved through its streets.

BROTHER, SISTER MEET

Lt. Gladys F. Rose and Cpl. Albert Rose, children of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Rose, Gardners R. D., met recently in England according to a letter received by their parents. Cpl. Rose, who had been stationed in France, received a furlough during which he visited his sister who is an Army nurse at a hospital in England.

NOW IN BELGIUM

Mrs. Carl Taylor, Bendersville, has received word her husband, Pvt. C. O. Taylor, is now in Belgium.

London, March 7 (AP)—German broadcasts today declared the Russians had opened the battle for Berlin, breaking into the north-eastern defenses of Kuestrin on the Oder 31 miles from Berlin.

Berlin said the Oder front was aflame along a 70-mile stretch from south of Kuestrin almost all the way north to Stettin.

Tanks of Marshal Gregory Zhukov's First White Russian Army attacked Zehden, 28 miles northwest of Kuestrin on the winding Oder, the German radio said, and possibly were trying to drive a wedge across to turn on Berlin or Stettin from the flank.

Attacking after a 24-hour artillery barrage, the Soviets punched into the northeastern defenses of Kuestrin, due east of Berlin, another Nazi broadcaster said.

New Push On Against 6,000 Japs On Iwo

By VERN HAUGLAND

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Guam, March 7 (AP)—An all-out push against the 6,000 or so Japanese still entrenched on the rocky northern end of Iwo Jima was under way today, with tremendous artillery support and Army fighters operating off the southern airfield for the first time. Those fighters are based within flying range of Tokyo.

The ground drive, breaking a two-day comparative lull in this fiercest battle of the Pacific war, achieved small gains yesterday in the center and on the left flank of the Marine line squeezing the bitterly-resisting enemy against the northern cliffs.

The Marines moved out behind a deadly rolling artillery barrage, the most intense of the campaign. But the Japanese fought so strongly with a continuous stream of small arms and mortar fire that the Marines were confined to "small, local gains," in the words of Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, communique today.

These gains were scored on the west side by Maj. Gen. Keller E. Rocky's Fifth Marine Division and just east of the center by Maj. Gen. Clifton B. Cates' Fourth Division. Maj. Gen. Graves B. Erskine's Third Division moved up in the middle.

By nightfall the Devil Dogs were still some 600 yards from the northern shoreline opposite a bulge which, if reached, would cut the remaining Japanese garrison in two. The Fourth Division was about 250 yards from volcanic cliffs which drop off onto a heavily-defended beach.

Near End Of Luzon Battle

By RICHARD BERGHOLZ

Manila, March 7 (AP)—The 58-day-old campaign for Luzon—it took the Japanese more than five months to conquer it—already is entering its "final phase," Gen. Douglas MacArthur said today.

With Manila liberated, Bataan and Corregidor retaken and the central Luzon plain overrun, the more than 10 Yank divisions committed to the operation from the U. S. Sixth and Eighth Armies are regrouping to go after scattered Nipponese in the mountains.

On rocky Corregidor, at the entrance of reopened Manila bay, Yanks of the 503rd Parachute Regiment have sealed off 300 caves and tunnels, a spokesman disclosed today. In those underground places, the few survivors of 6,000 Nipponese which had formed the fortress garrison are doomed to die because they refused to surrender.

Brilliantly aided by Filipino guerrillas, the Yank divisions on Luzon are preparing death traps for the four Japanese divisions Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita has left of an original 10—an enemy loss to date on Luzon of more than 90,000 men.

WILL PROBATED

The will of the late Clinton E. Sadler, of Arendtsville, was entered for probate this morning at the office of Register and Recorder Winfield G. Horner, David C. March, of Biglerville, who was named as executor, filed an application for letters testamentary. The personal property was value at about $2,500 and the real estate, which includes a two-story brick dwelling on High street, in Arendtsville, was listed at $1,000.

Have Bridgeheads

The Germans weeks ago said the Russians had shoved bridgeheads over the Oder 30 to 40 miles below and above besieged Kuestrin.

Kuestrin was reported under attack from north and south. Moscow was silent concerning this front.

Moscow dispatches made no mention of the Berlin-Oder front but said Soviet troops were sweeping across Wollin, the first of the stepping stone islands in Stettin bay to the north, in a push aimed at cutting off Stettin from the sea.

They captured the city of Wollin, 28 miles north of Stettin, on the coastal route leading to the U-boat base at Swinemunde and beyond to Germany's Mecklenburg province north of Berlin.

Artillery Barrage

The Berlin radio said "a Russian artillery barrage is raining down on German positions" on the Oder, and "this barrage preceded their all-out offensive on this front."

A transocean broadcast said Marshal Gregory Zhukov's army sought to knock out long-beleaguered Kuestrin "to win jumping-off ground for a drive on Berlin on the Oder's west bank."

The assault extended south toward Frankfurt, 18 miles up the river, it added.

A full-fledged Soviet offensive from the east on Berlin has been awaited for weeks. The First Ukrainian Army is arrayed west of the Oder on Zhukov's southern flank.

The Russians threw seven successive attacks at Kuestrin's northeastern defenses, the transocean broadcast continued, but they were repulsed.

It said, the Soviet box barrage opened Tuesday morning, with German guns replying, and then Soviet ground troops charged.

Northeast of Berlin, Zhukov was hammering at the approaches to Stettin, the port of the German capital. The Germans reported furious, unabated fighting on what remained of the Germans' Pomeranian front, cut up by two Soviet army groupings.

YANK HEAVIES HIT NAZI OIL

By HENRY B. JAMESON

London, March 7 (AP) — More than 900 U. S. heavy bombers struck in a seven-pronged attack today at oil plants in the Dortmund area, a large railway viaduct at Bielefeld, and railroad yards at Soest and Siegen after steady RAF night assaults on German troops massed at Wesel on the Rhine.

The Eighth Air Force bombers were covered by 250 fighters in this 23rd straight day of aerial blows closely coordinated with the ground attack.

Oil targets included three benzol plants and a large refinery on Dortmund's outskirts. Bielefeld, Soest, and Siegen all are on main rail and highway routes from central and eastern Germany to the western front.

Smashing of the Bielefeld viaduct would stop the main flow of traffic from the big inland bases of Brunswick and Hannover to the Ruhr battlefield.

British warplanes overnight made an eight-hour attack on Wesel, Nazi escape town on the east bank of the Rhine. It was the longest air attack ever carried out against a German city.

Mrs. Gifford assumes the new position as leader of the county's women in future war bond drives with the background of her experience as co-chairman of the county community activities committee during the Fifth and Sixth bond drives. She shared the chairmanship of that group with Leighton C. Taylor, of Bendersville.

Mr. Thomas said Mrs. Gifford's position as co-chairman of the community activities committee is to be filled soon. Other appointments are to be made soon in other divisions of the county war finance committee also, Mr. Thomas announced.

7th Drive Opens May 14

Mrs. Bream, whom Mrs. Gifford succeeds, had been active in bond drive work since the inception of the county organization and had headed the women's division of the war bond campaign organization from the Second drive through the Sixth war bond campaign which ended December 31, 1944. Women's bond sales increased in each successive campaign until the sixth when bonds totaling more than $500,000 were sold by members of the women's division of the war bond organization.

Mrs. Bream resigned January 26 and on February 1 took up her duties as a visitor at the county office of the Public Assistance Board.

The Seventh War Loan drive will open May 14 and continue through June 30. The national quota for that drive is $14,000,000,000, the same as the Sixth War Loan campaign although the quota for sales to individuals has been increased. The county quota for the forthcoming drive has not been announced.

WINS BRONZE STAR MEDAL

Pfc. Walter E. Alwine, 26, of the Medical Department, United States Army, has been awarded the Bronze Star medal for his heroic work in evacuating wounded during the fighting on Leyte, Philippine Islands, in December, according to information received by his father, Edward Alwine, Abbottstown.

The Bronze Star awarded by the commanding general of an infantry division, was accompanied by a citation which explained that the decoration had been given "for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy on Leyte" on December 9 and 20. Pfc. Alwine's actions throughout the entire campaign reflected the highest standards of the Medical Department, according to the citation.

The acts of valor performed by the Abbottstown hero were undertaken voluntarily and without regard for his own safety. He went forward repeatedly to evacuate casualties, the citation reveals, accomplishing the missions under heavy enemy small arms fire.

The first of the two acts of valor for which Pfc. Alwine has been cited occurred on December 9 as night was falling. Pfc. Alwine with members of his squad went

Thousands Homeless, 7 Dead In Ohio Flood

Cincinnati, O., March 7 (AP)

— Still-rising flood waters of rivers and tributaries along a 1,000 miles of midwestern lowlands today has made thousands homeless, taken at least 7 lives and dealt a staggering blow to the making of munitions.

The Ohio river — from its headwaters at Pittsburgh all the way to the Mississippi — rose toward levels reached only twice before in history.

The storied and swift Mississippi ran into low-lying residential districts, forcing hundreds of families out. Waters of the White river in Arkansas threatened levees further south and military forces were pressed into duty to reinforce the barriers.

ALLISON TRACES PARK, CEMETERY ESTABLISHMENT

A history of the Gettysburg National Park and the Gettysburg National Military cemetery was presented in a talk by William H. Allison, National cemetery superintendent, to the monthly meeting of the Adams County Historical society Tuesday night at the court house.

Dr. Henry Stewart, association president, presided at the session. Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh acted as secretary in the absence of Dr. Frank Clutz. Three presentations were made to the association. John A. Mumper, Baltimore street, presented the group with 13 photographs taken during the 1880's by his father, Levi Mumper. The pictures show construction of the Western Maryland railroad through Jack's mountain west of Fairfield.

The second gift was a book, "Little Pilgrim to Penn's Woods," written by Edna Albert, an Adams county resident. The author resides near Gardners and laid her story in the northern part of the county. The book was presented by Joseph Arnold, of Dormont. F. K. Swartz, Carlisle street, presented the society with a copy of the original published edition of the dirge used at the dedication of the National cemetery.

In his talk, Mr. Allison described the origin and growth first of the cemetery association, and then of the old Battlefield association. The move to construct the cemetery began a few days after the battle when the governor visited the field and found an estimated 10,000 dead and 21,000 wounded men of both armies.

Vets of Four Wars

In his talks with David Wills prominent local attorney, it was decided that Mr. Wills would act as agent for the state in the care of the wounded and the burying of the dead. The first move in the organization of a cemetery was the purchase of eight acres of land along the Baltimore pike, and eventually five tracts containing 17 acres in all, were acquired.

Thirty-four bids ranging from $15.9 to $8 were received from contractors. (Please Turn to Page 5)

Thousands Homeless, 7 Dead In Ohio Flood

Louisville expected to evacuate hundreds of families as the Ohio rolled toward a 45-foot flood stage. At Cincinnati, the Ohio was expected to pass the 70-foot mark, 18 feet above flood stage.

Official forecasters, hoping that colder weather would halt the runoff from the saturated ground of the Ohio Valley's 202,000 square miles, still withheld definite predictions of a crest. However, they watched the progress of a new bulge coming down from Pittsburgh, where continued rains had pushed the Ohio more than three feet above the 25-foot flood stage.

At 70 feet the Ohio here would be 18 feet over flood stage, but nearly ten feet under the 1937 record crest. The second highest stage (Please Turn to Page 5)

Oder Front Aflame; Allies Sweep Rhineland

Paris, March 7 (AP)—The powerful American Third Army drove routed Germans to within 15 miles of the middle Rhine today while the First Army fought within three miles of Bonn, 15 miles south of fallen Cologne.

The dashing Third Army tanks were reported at supreme headquarters to be near Montreal, a crossroads town just short of Mayern. The report, far behind actual progress, placed the Fourth Armored Division within 20 miles of Coblenz and 50 of the large Rhine cities of Mainz and Weisbaden.

On this fateful anniversary of Hitler's militarization of the now overrun Rhineland, the prisoner toll for all Allied armies on the western front passed the million mark and rose above 100,000 for the current campaign which started January 30 with Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's plunge into the Siegfried line east of Luxembourg.

A graveyard of German cities stretched from Cologne 50 miles back to the Reich frontier. Soon after that fourth city of Germany fell late yesterday the American First and Ninth armies cleared the whole west bank of the Rhine from Rheinberg south to Cologne save for a fractional pocket at Zons, just south of Dusseldorf. The distance was 45 airline miles but nearer 70 as the Rhine flows.

Single Nazi Pocket

The last sizable German bridgehead west of the lower Rhine opposite Wesel was hammered down to a strip eight miles long and up to five miles wide. On Monday, 50,000 Germans were estimated to be in the pocket. Many have fled, but now the last two bridges at Wesel are virtually impassable.

Nazi troopers who survived the debacle of Cologne fled south along the Rhine toward Bonn, a city of 101,000 and the birthplace of Beethoven. The First Army's Ninth division fought at dawn in the village of Ailfen, only three miles from Bonn.

Like Cologne, Bonn lies almost defenseless in the west bank of the castled Rhine.

Many Prisoners, Losses Light

Maj. Gen. Hugh Gaffey's Fourth armored division approached the middle Rhine in the Coblenz area after a 37-mile sweep since early Monday. His tanks and infantry captured vast stores of booty—stacked for miles along the road and captured German command-er of the 53rd Corps, Lt. Gen. Graf Von Rothkirch.

The Third Army dash toward the Rhine outflanked the Saar industrial district from the north, just as the Seventh Army outflanked it from the south.

Prisoners were taken by the thousands. The whole German line in the rugged Elfs was collapsing. Third Army losses were extremely light. Associated Press correspondents Edward D. Ball and Thoburn Wiant wirelessly.

Bastogne General Taken

The Fourth armored division, a star unit of the Third Army, was plunging toward the Rhine in a narrow corridor—sometimes only the width of a road—extending like a crooked finger northeastward from the Kyll bridgehead east of Biltburg. Infantry followed the Fourth armored division in vehicles of all descriptions.

The captured Gen. Rothkirch was the commander who besieged Bastogne in Belgium and who got the epic reply of "nuts" from Brig. (now Maj.) Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe to his demand for surrender of the 101st Airborne division. The Fourth armored division which captured the general and his staff was the same which broke the Bastogne siege.

Cologne and its vast ruins was the largest city to fall either in this war or the last. Its 768,000 peacetime population made it the size of Boston proper. Though shattered by repeated bombings, it still is the greatest traffic center in western Germany and was the site of vast and varied industries. Surprisingly, most Germans appeared friendly as conquering tanks and foot troops moved through its streets.

BROTHER, SISTER MEET

Lt. Gladys F. Rose and Cpl. Albert Rose, children of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Rose, Gardners R. D., met recently in England according to a letter received by their parents. Cpl. NOW IN BELGIUM

Mrs. Carl Taylor, Bendersville, has received word her husband, Pvt. C. O. Taylor, is now in Belgium.

London, March 7 (AP)—German broadcasts today declared the Russians had opened the battle for Berlin, breaking into the north-eastern defenses of Kuestrin on the Oder 31 miles from Berlin.

Berlin said the Oder front was aflame along a 70-mile stretch from south of Kuestrin almost all the way north to Stettin.

Tanks of Marshal Gregory Zhukov's First White Russian Army attacked Zehden, 28 miles northwest of Kuestrin on the winding Oder, the German radio said, and possibly were trying to drive a wedge across to turn on Berlin or Stettin from the flank.

Attacking after a 24-hour artillery barrage, the Soviets punched into the northeastern defenses of Kuestrin, due east of Berlin, another Nazi broadcaster said.

The German high command said Zhukov launched a major assault intended to overwhelm Kuestrin and "establish further attacking bases" for a push on Berlin.

Have Bridgeheads

The Germans weeks ago said the Russians had shoved bridgeheads over the Oder 30 to 40 miles below and above besieged Kuestrin.

Kuestrin was reported under attack from north and south. Moscow was silent concerning this front.

Moscow dispatches made no mention of the Berlin-Oder front but said Soviet troops were sweeping across Wollin, the first of the stepping stone islands in Stettin bay to the north. In a push aimed at cutting off Stettin from the sea.

They captured the city of Wollin, 28 miles north of Stettin, on the coastal route leading to the U-boat base at Swinemunde and beyond to Germany's Mecklenburg province north of Berlin.

Artillery Barrage

The Berlin radio said "a Russian artillery barrage is raining down on German positions" on the Oder, and "this barrage preceded their all-out offensive on this front."

A transocean broadcast said Marshal Gregory Zhukov's army sought to knock out long-beleaguered Kuestrin "to win jumping-off ground for a drive on Berlin on the Oder's west bank."

The assault extended south toward Frankfurt, 18 miles up the river, it added.

A full-fledged Soviet offensive from the east on Berlin has been awaited for weeks. The First Ukrainian Army is arrayed west of the Oder on Zhukov's southern flank.

The Russians threw seven successive attacks at Kuestrin's northeastern defenses, the transocean broadcast continued, but they were repulsed.

It said the Soviet box barrage opened Tuesday morning, with German guns replying, and then Soviet ground troops charged.

Northeast of Berlin, Zhukov was hammering at the approaches to Stettin, the port of the German capital. The Germans reported furious, unabated fighting on what remained of the German's Pomeranian front, cut up by two Soviet army groupings.

YANK HEAVIES HIT NAZI OIL

By HENRY B. JAMESON

London, March 7 (AP) — More than 900 U. S. heavy bombers struck in a seven-pronged attack today at oil plants in the Dortmund area, a large railway viaduct at Bielefeld, and railroad yards at Soest and Siegen after steady RAF night assaults on German troops massed at Wesel on the Rhine.

The Eighth Air Force bombers were covered by 250 fighters in this 23rd straight day of aerial blows closely coordinated with the ground attack.

Oil targets included three benzol plants and a large refinery on Dortmund's outskirts. Bielefeld, Soest, and Siegen all are on main rail and highway routes from central and eastern Germany to the western front.

Smashing of the Bielefeld viaduct would stop the main flow of traffic from the big inland bases of Brunswick and Hannover to the Ruhr battlefield.

British warplanes overnight made an eight-hour attack on Wesel, Nazi escape town on the east bank of the Rhine. It was the longest air attack ever carried out against a German city.

WORLD PEACE MUST DEPEND ON BIG THREE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

There's little satisfaction to be had out of the report in London diplomatic quarters that France is preparing to lead a bloc of western European countries in a campaign to obtain greater power for the smaller nations in the forthcoming world security conference at San Francisco.

Let the foregoing remark seem cynical, let it be said at once that it's already agreed the little fellow must have his rights. That's in the Atlantic Charter to which all the United Nations subscribe.

However, what some of the smaller states fail to recognize is that the world is faced with a unique crisis. We are undergoing an upheaval which is ushering in a new era of international relationships. The old orthodox ideas for obtaining and maintaining peace no longer fill the bill. For that matter they never did fill the bill, as witness the failure of the League of Nations which turned the great marble peace palace at Geneva into a mausoleum for dead hopes.

Trust Necessary

We are up against the necessity of trying other methods. The circumstances of this global war have evolved a new and admittedly startling idea. This is that (1) The security of the world depends on the cooperative efforts of the major powers, and that (2) The smaller nations must place their trust in this bloc of great powers. There is no alternative.

At the outset these great powers will be America, Britain and Russia—the Big Three. This is the trio which, standing together, has saved the world from enslavement. Individually they possess the greatest resources. Collectively their strength is so vast that they could dominate the world. By that token they can enforce global order.

In due course two other great powers may join the Big Three actively as well as in name—making the Big Five. Those two are France and China. France was a great power until Hitler's blitzkrieg knocked her out. She now is struggling with a material, political and spiritual rebirth which it's hoped will raise her to her former proud position. China is huge in territory and population—but not in strength. She too must undergo vast changes to give her a real place with the Big Three.

It's a peculiar circumstance that the nations which now are raising objections to the prerogatives of the Big Three are the countries which Russia, Britain and America have rescued with much blood and a titanic expenditure of wealth. Not having been able to protect themselves, and now having been rescued, these small nations show growing signs of unwillingness to trust the Big Three to guide them through the trying period between war and stabilized peace.

Let none doubt that this transitional period will be one of the most critical in the history of mankind. Blind indeed are those who don't see that unprecedented social and political changes are growing out of this war.

Only Solution

Thus while we can say in truth that world-guidance by three powers may not be the ideal solution, it apparently is the only one which will meet this crisis. The smaller nations can either cooperate with it or fight it. If they cooperate they may get peace and progress; if they fight they may disrupt the chances of establishing a real peace. That means more war.

Undoubtedly it's best that all phases of the situation should be discussed at San Francisco. But hopes of a sound peace organization most certainly will depend on recognition that the Big Three—like it or not—are carrying the world on their broad backs. That calls for realism.

One of the hopeful signs of this time is the eager and common-sense attitude of the Pan-American conference. The Americas want peace.

Free Officer In Mercy Death Of Air Gunner Trapped In Fire

By CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH

Kunming, March 2 (Delayed) (AP)—An officer at a forward American air base who fired two mercy bullets into the head of a flier hopelessly trapped in a wrecked and burning plane was acquitted today of voluntary manslaughter.

A general court martial of seven colonels drawn from the U. S. 14th Air Force and associated service organizations returned the verdict after hearing 10 witnesses piece together one of the most soul-searing episodes of the war.

The defendant was a 31-year-old lieutenant colonel, commander of a fighter group, veteran of 80 air missions, and ranking officer at the base. The accident victim was a 20-year-old sergeant gunner in a B-25 bomber.

Vain Rescue Attempt (No names were given in this dispatch. Presumably censorship withheld them.)

The incident happened Jan. 18. Two other crew members of the five-man bomber were killed in the crash, which occurred when the craft overshot the runway on returning to base from a mission against the enemy. The plane hurtled down a 50-foot embankment.

Witnesses said rescuers reached the wreckage almost immediately. Three men were in the flight compartment at the time—the pilot, copilot and the sergeant gunner, whose duty on missions was to man the twin 50-caliber machineguns in the top turret.

Body Pinned In Plane As many as six men, braving gasolene flames from a broken wing tank, took hold of the sergeant's arms and shoulders at one time, witnesses said, and tried to pull him free, but he was pinned tightly about his crushed legs behind the armor plate backing of the copilot's seat. The wreckage had folded in upon his legs when the right wing dug into the ground.

Witnesses said that a long effort would have been necessary to cut away the metal that had snapped in on the sergeant's lower legs like the jaws of a bear trap, and that physicians could not get into position to amputate the legs.

The rescuers, it was testified, actually tried to pull the trapped man's body loose from his crushed legs, but did not have the strength.

All hope of rescue had been given up, witnesses said, when the lieutenant colonel, standing off about 15 feet, fired twice at the sergeant's head where it showed in the wreckage of the flight compartment.

"Reasonable Doubt" (The dispatch did not say what fire fighting facilities were available.)

At the court martial, which sat throughout the afternoon in the recreation hall of an Air Force hostel here, the defendant elected not to testify in his own behalf.

The defense counsel, Lt. Col. John H. Hendren of Kansas City, Mo., rather than base his case on a contention that the shooting was in fact an act of mercy, brought out testimony intended to show that the defendant had acted irrationally under great emotional strain.

The main pillar of the defense, however, was medical testimony that the condition of the victim's body, when recovered, left a reasonable doubt that the sergeant had indeed died from the bullets rather than from burning.

Cashtown Scouts Will Gather Scrap

Members of the Cashtown Boy Scout troop will gather salvage materials in Cashtown and five other nearby communities and the surrounding territory Saturday morning.

The Scouts will gather the scrap materials in Mummansburg, Seven Stars, Knoxlyn Mills, Orrlanna and McKnightstown, in addition to their home town. The boys are working for an Eisenhower medal which is awarded to each scout who collects 1,000 pounds or more of scrap paper. A group award also is presented to each troop averaging a collection of 1,000 pounds or more for each registered member.

All of the territory surrounding the six communities in which the boys collect the salvage material will be covered. The 1,000 pounds of scrap to be collected for the Eisenhower medal award must be waste paper, and they have stressed the collection of that product, but the scouts will also take old iron, rags, bronze or copper.

WORLD PEACE MUST DEPEND ON BIG THREE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (Associated Press War Analyst)

There's little satisfaction to be had out of the report in London diplomatic quarters that France is preparing to lead a bloc of western European countries in a campaign to obtain greater power for the smaller nations in the forthcoming world security conference at San Francisco.

Lest the foregoing remark seem cynical, let it be said at once that it's already agreed the little fellow must have his rights. That's in the Atlantic Charter to which all the United Nations subscribe.

However, what some of the smaller states fail to recognize is that the world is faced with a unique crisis. We are undergoing an upheaval which is ushering in a new era of international relationships. The old orthodox ideas for obtaining and maintaining peace no longer fill the bill. For that matter they never did fill the bill, as witness the failure of the League of Nations which turned the great marble peace palace at Geneva into a mausoleum for dead hopes.

Trust Necessary We are up against the necessity of trying other methods. The circumstances of this global war have evolved a new and admittedly startling idea. This is that (1) The security of the world depends on the cooperative efforts of the major powers, and that (2) The smaller nations must place their trust in this bloc of great powers. There is no alternative.

At the outset these great powers will be America, Britain and Russia—the Big Three. This is the trio which, standing together, has saved the world from enslavement. Individually they possess the greatest resources. Collectively their strength is so vast that they could dominate the world. By that token they can enforce global order.

In due course two other great powers may join the Big Three actively as well as in name—making the Big Five. Those two are France and China. France was a great power until Hitler's blitzkrieg knocked her out. She now is struggling with a material, political and spiritual rebirth which it's hoped will raise her to her former proud position. China is huge in territory and population—but not in strength. She too must undergo vast changes to give her a real place with the Big Three.

It's a peculiar circumstance that the nations which now are raising objections to the prerogatives of the Big Three are the countries which Russia, Britain and America have rescued with much blood and a titanic expenditure of wealth. Not having been able to protect themselves, and now having been rescued, these small nations show growing signs of unwillingness to trust the Big Three to guide them through the trying period between war and stabilization.

Let none doubt that this transitional period will be one of the most critical in the history of mankind. Blind indeed are those who don't see that unprecedented social and political changes are growing out of this war.

Only Solution Thus while we can say in truth that world-guidance by three powers may not be the ideal solution, it apparently is the only one which will meet this crisis. The smaller nations can either cooperate with it or fight it. If they cooperate they may get peace and progress; if they fight they may disrupt the chances of establishing a real peace. That means more war.

Undoubtedly it's best that all phases of the situation should be discussed at San Francisco. But hopes of a sound peace organization most certainly will depend on recognition that the Big Three—like it or not—are carrying the world on their broad backs. That calls for realism.

One of the hopeful signs of this time is the eager and commonsense attitude of the Pan-American conference. The Americas want peace.

Free Officer In Mercy Death Of Air Gunner Trapped In Fire

By CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH

Kunming, March 2 (Delayed) (AP)—An officer at a forward American air base who fired two mercy bullets into the head of a flier hopelessly trapped in a wrecked and burning plane was acquitted today of voluntary manslaughter.

A general court martial of seven colonels drawn from the U. S. 14th Air Force and associated service organizations returned the verdict after hearing 10 witnesses piece together one of the most soul-searing episodes of the war.

The defendant was a 31-year-old lieutenant colonel, commander of a fighter group, veteran of 80 air missions, and ranking officer at the base. The accident victim was a 20-year-old sergeant gunner in a B-25 bomber.

Vain Rescue Attempt

(No names were given in this dispatch. Presumably censorship withheld them.)

The incident happened Jan. 18. Two other crew members of the five-man bomber were killed in the crash, which occurred when the craft overshot the runway on returning to base from a mission against the enemy. The plane hurtled down a 60-foot embankment.

Witnesses said rescuers reached the wreckage almost immediately. Three men were in the flight compartment at the time—the pilot, copilot and the sergeant gunner, whose duty on missions was to man the twin 50-caliber machineguns in the top turret.

The copilot was killed in his chair. The pilot was seriously injured. Both were removed as flames spread through the plane.

Body Pinned In Plane

As many as six men, braving gasoline flames from a broken wing tank, took hold of the sergeant's arms and shoulders at one time, witnesses said, and tried to pull him free, but he was pinned tightly against his crushed legs behind the armor plate backing of the copilot's seat. The wreckage had folded in upon his legs when the right wing dug into the ground.

Witnesses said that a long effort would have been necessary to cut away the metal that had snapped in on the sergeant's lower legs like the jaws of a bear trap, and that physicians could not get into position to amputate the legs.

The rescuers, it was testified, actually tried to pull the trapped man's body loose from his crushed legs, but did not have the strength.

All hope of rescue had been given up, witnesses said, when the lieutenant colonel, standing off about 15 feet, fired twice at the sergeant's head where it showed in the wreckage of the flight compartment.

"Reasonable Doubt"

(The dispatch did not say what fire fighting facilities were available.)

At the court martial, which sat throughout the afternoon in the recreation hall of an Air Force hostel here, the defendant elected not to testify in his own behalf.

The defense counsel, Lt. Col. John H. Hendren of Kansas City, Mo., rather than base his case on a contention that the shooting was indeed an act of mercy, brought out testimony intended to show that the defendant had acted irrationally under great emotional strain.

The main pillar of the defense, however, was medical testimony that the condition of the victim's body, when recovered, left a reasonable doubt that the sergeant had indeed died from the bullets rather than from burning.

Cashtown Scouts Will Gather Scrap

Members of the Cashtown Boy Scout troop will gather salvage materials in Cashtown and five other nearby communities and the surrounding territory Saturday morning.

A group award also is presented to each troop averaging a collection of 1,000 pounds or more for each registered member.

All of the territory surrounding the six communities in which the boys collect the salvage material will be covered. The 1,000 pounds of scrap to be collected for the Eisenhower medal award must be waste paper, and they have stressed the collection of that product, but the scouts will also take old iron, rags, bronze or copper.

Action Nearing On Airport Expansion

Harrisburg, March 7 (AP)—Broad programs to expand Pennsylvania's airport and housing facilities inched closer today toward action in the General Assembly.

Republicans and Democratic leaders planned to report to Governor Martin at next Monday's regular meeting their general approval of the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission's $34,000,000 airport program. They approved the 10-year plan as "a good beginning" at a meeting with the commission yesterday about the same time Governor Martin endorsed the Postwar Planning Commission's housing program to permit 10 per cent of their assets in investment projects.

Sen. John H. Dent, the Democratic floor leader, said tentative agreement was reached to grant a $3,725,000 appropriation to start the airport plan in 1945-47.

The program calls for construction of 148 new airports and extension of 95 existing fields. (Gettysburg and Littlestown are on the list for new airports.)

1½ Million Chicks To Be Hatched Here In '45

A million and a half chicks will be hatched commercially in Adams county this season, which opened January 1 and may run to the end of May.

That was the best estimate available today from hatcherymen who have had to contend with war uncertainties, shifting government policies and the complications caused by extreme cold weather.

Orders that lagged in January and early February now are rushing.

Into the eight commercial hatcheries in this county in such volume that the 1945 hatch is expected to equal that for 1944 when an estimated million and a half baby chicks were produced.

The extreme cold weather of January and parts of February cut the quantity of chicks hatched by damaging hatchery eggs in shipment. Farmers too were reluctant to place their orders for chicks during the very cold weather when brooder house heating costs would be higher and rearing problems would be complicated.

Longer Season Ahead

Until late January the government had been telling poultrymen to reduce their flocks 17 per cent below last year but later in January, a reported 25-million-case "surplus" of eggs vanished and word went out to chicken raisers all over the nation to match the volume of production in 1944.

Last year the hatching orders stopped abruptly about the middle of May but this year the season is expected to extend beyond that date because poultrymen are being forced to accept late delivery dates by reason of the rush of orders being received now.

The largest commercial hatchery in this county is that of Pennsylvania Farms at Abbotstown. Second largest is that of Roy Heckenluber between Biglerville and Arendtsville.

A state-wide survey of the chick hatchery situation by the Federal-State crop reporting service of the state department of agriculture resulted in this report:

"Demand for chicks from Pennsylvania hatcheries at present is rated good, but not so good as conditions warrant. However, the outlook is better this season than last, though somewhat below the record production of 1943. Some operators have delayed opening later than they had previously indicated."

The report shows that during January 4,500,000 baby chicks were produced by Pennsylvania commercial hatcheries. This compares with 4,045,000 in January, 1944, and with the average of 1,582,000 for the 5-year period, 1939 to 1943.

Total 1944 commercial chick production in Pennsylvania was 16 per cent below 1943. The principal factor in the recently improved outlook is that the feed situation has improved and government requirements and programs are expected to strengthen the demand for both eggs and poultry. The supply of hatching eggs now is generally good.

Nationally there was a 5 per cent increase in the number of baby chicks produced by commercial hatcheries during January compared with the output for the same month in 1944. A strong demand exists for chicks for commercial broiler production.

Urges Buying Of Fertilizer Now

Urging the early purchase of seed, fertilizer, and other supplies for 1945 crops, Field Supervisor R. O. Westbrook, of the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Office at Harrisburg, has announced that applications for crop and feed loans in Adams county are now being accepted.

"Due to transportation difficulties and limited storage facilities off the farm, farmers are advised to purchase their requirements of seed and fertilizer immediately," Field Supervisor Westbrook said. "The Emergency Crop and Feed Loan office is prepared to make loans up to $400 to farmers who are eligible in order that they may pay cash for their supplies. The interest rate is 4 per cent per year and loans are completed within a week or ten days."

The security required is a mortgage on crops to be grown and repayment is to be made from the sale of such crops. On feed loans the security required is a chattel mortgage on livestock to be fed.

Farmers may apply to G. Marion Stambaugh, Farmers' Cooperative office, Gettysburg, at any time or may meet Field Supervisor Westbrook at 9:30 a. m., court house, on Friday, March 16, or at 1:30 p. m., same day, York Springs post office.

Farm Calendar
Prune Grape Vines—This is a good time to prune grape vines, remind fruit extension specialists of the Pennsylvania State college. Old wood should be cut out, since the buds on canes produced last year will grow the 1945 crop of grapes.

Spray Home Fruits—A new schedule has been developed by the extension entomologists and plant pathologists of the Pennsylvania State college for home gardeners who wish to give their fruit proper and scientific spraying for disease and insect control.

Plant Windbreak—Spring is the time to plant a windbreak for farm buildings. Extension foresters of the Pennsylvania State college suggest two inside rows of pines with outside rows of short needled evergreens. Spacing is six feet between rows, and six feet in the rows, with the trees staggered to close gaps.

Sharpen Tools—All tools to be used in peeling bark on pulpwood should be sharpened now, remind Penn State extension foresters. The peeling season extends from May to August.

Avoid Cabbage Losses—Only yellows-resistant varieties of cabbage should be planted if heavy losses are to be avoided, remind Penn State extension vegetable garden specialists.

PULPWOOD NEEDED
With war demands still critical, paper mills have renewed their urgent appeals for more pulpwood, particularly from farmers and woodland owners, extension foresters of the Pennsylvania State college report. Heavy snows have impeded timber operations, and present shortages have increased demands for all kinds of wood.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and
The Gettysburg Times

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Mehring-Geiselman: Walter T. Mehring, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Marshall Mehring, of Gettysburg, and Miss Roxie E. Geiselman, daughter of Mrs. Michael Geiselman, Hanover, were married in Baltimore on Saturday, by Rev. James W. Wallace.

Addelberger-Cluck: On Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the Reformed parsonage in Arendtsville, Roy Albert Addelberger and Miss Savilla Cluck, both of Aspers, were united in marriage by the Rev. T. C. Hesson.

Money Cannot Rent Houses: Real estate men here estimate conservatively that there are between seventy-five and a hundred families seeking homes in Gettysburg who will be compelled to live elsewhere for a time at least until the houses and apartments which are under way can be completed. Persons living in houses, which rent for $18 a month have been offered $25 by families who wish to come here.

Singing Chaplain Speaks: Students of the Theological Seminary were greatly impressed Tuesday night by an address delivered to them by Rev. Ross H. Stover, pastor of Messiah Lutheran church, Philadelphia, who told of his method of personal appeal that he used effectively while serving as a chaplain in the Army. Rev. Mr. Stover, the "singing chaplain," stated that success in any kind of work depended upon the amount of energy and enthusiasm each chaplain put into it. The senior class at Seminary will accompany Rev. Mr. Stover to Philadelphia in order to study rescue mission work.

Farm Sold: Adaline Jane Coshum has sold her farm in Mt. Joy township, known as the Pine Crest farm, containing sixty-three acres, to C. R. Fissel.

Duncan Re-Appointed: Charles S. Duncan, Esq., has received notice that the United States Senate had re-appointed him postmaster in Gettysburg for four more years. His term commenced on Thursday.

Mr. Duncan was first appointed postmaster here in April, 1941, shortly after the new edifice on Baltimore street was completed.

Named Yard Master: Monroe Weiser, for the past few years baggage-master of the Western Maryland Railroad and more recently clerk in the freight office of the same company was promoted to the position of yard-master made vacant by the resignation of Martin McSherry some time ago.

Young Ladies Selected: Eleven young ladies of town will leave Monday afternoon for Mechanicsburg to take a two weeks' course of training in the silk throwing plant of the J. H. and E. K. Eagle company. They will return here in time for the opening of the Gettysburg factory. Those selected are: Misses Clotilda Myrick, Elizabeth Slonaker, Edna Smith, Ruth Miller, Myrtle Furney, Stella and Cary Kemper, Virginia Steinberger, Carrie Hardman, Bessie Reed and Edith McKendrick.

Raise Town Employees: In response to demands from its employees the town council has decided to raise their wages from thirty to thirty-five cents per hour.

Secretary Kitzmiller, of the town council, has been ordered to send out notices to Chambersburg street residents of the assessments for their curbs.

Stop Subscriptions: No more subscriptions for stock to the Lincoln Trust company will be received according to members of the executive committee. Several weeks ago at a meeting of the stockholders it was decided to increase the capitalization figure from $125,000 to $150,000. $163,000 has been subscribed, of which $13,000 will be returned to various persons in order to decrease to the stipulated amount.

Wilson Out for First in Months: (By Associated Press) Washington, March 3.—President Wilson went to a motor ride today leaving the White House grounds for the first time since he was ordered to bed last October by Rear Admiral Grayson, his physician, "a very sick man."

The President was accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, Dr. Grayson and secret service men, and took a spin around the "speedway" along the Potomac.

Personal: Howard A. Knouse has returned to his home near Gettysburg, from Pennsylvania State college, where he has completed an eight weeks' course in horticulture.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Billheimer announce the birth of a son.

Thomas George and James Tolson, of the American restaurant, are visiting relatives in Mahanoy City for several days.

AMG TAKES OVER GOVERNMENT OF CONQUERED CITY

Cologne, March 7 (AP)—This great Rhineland metropolis which once numbered almost 800,000 inhabitants, woke up today to find itself under an American military government setup headed by Lt. Col. John K. Patterson of Riverside, Calif.

Patterson himself did not yet know how many cellar-dwelling civilians still remained in the ruins of the city, utterly devastated by three years of heavy aerial bombardment. Some estimates ran as high as 150,000 and some as low as 10,000.

An advance echelon arrived here last night seeking quarters for the military government. Like scores of other army outfits, however, they'll have to take the best basement they can find.

Handpicked Last Fall

One of the AMG's first tasks will be to register every person found in the city. There have been reports of German soldiers donning civilian clothes in an effort to escape capture, and these must be weeded out.

A multitude of other problems await the AMG. Virtually all public utilities have been knocked out. There is no electric nor telephone service, no running water and no form of public transportation.

Patterson and his staff were handpicked for the Cologne job last September and have been memorizing data and otherwise preparing themselves ever since. Most of them already have had experience with the AMG in France and Belgium. All will perform functions closely allied to their jobs in civilian life before the war.

New Oxford

New Oxford. — Fred G. Klunk has accepted a position in a York war production corporation.

Mrs. Georgianna Pink was hostess at her home Monday evening when a covered dish supper was given for the local garden club. An illustrated lecture on Chinese gardens was presented at this meeting.

The Rev. George E. Sheffer, pastor of the First Lutheran church, has announced that the annual confirmation service will take place Palm Sunday morning, March 25.

Mrs. Arthur Weaver and daughter, Joyce, left during the past week to make their home at Little Creek, Va. Her husband is stationed with the Navy. Arthur Weaver, who had been on leave here, accompanied them to their new home. Their relative, Mrs. Eugene Weaver and family, will occupy the Peiser property where the other Weaver family had resided. Mrs. Eugene Weaver and children had been living with Mrs. Corinne Weaver during Eugene Weaver's absence in the service.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hale have been informed that their son, George, who is serving in Belgium with the army, is improved after a recent illness.

The local P. O. S. of A. chapter met Monday evening to begin plans for a membership campaign to be conducted this year. The organization also started preparations for its anniversary exercises to be conducted in June.

The local Girl Scout troop is planning to conduct a canvass throughout the town on Saturday to collect waste materials for patriotic purposes.

Curtis Miller, has returned home from the Hanover hospital where he recently underwent an emergency appendectomy.

Ralph Stambaugh continues to improve after a recent operation at the Hanover hospital. He has returned to his home.

The Fellowship Of Prayer

"For They Shall See God," "Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God." Matthew 5:8. Read John 14:15-21.

There is another possible translation for the "pure in heart," that is the "cleansed" in heart. Either translation stresses a great truth. We never see anything clearly through the windows of stained desire. Most of all any clear vision of divine love and goodness is impossible to those blinded by the sense-stained or the self-assertive. So much doubt is the only far-reaching shadow of our own proud spirits.

Put it another way: moral integrity is the cardinal demand of Jesus' ethic. The pure in heart see God because, set free from selfish desire, they are open to the vast and encompassing suggestion of God's order, through which they see the gleams of His presence and His power. They know His Father's world and intimations of His nearness shine through every window of the soul.

Prayer: Fulfill in us, our Father, we beseech Thee, the blessedness of the pure in heart. Forgive in us whatever clouds our spiritual vision and so cleanse us in affection and desire that we shall walk in the light of Thy presence neither weary nor doubting in Jesus' name. Amen.

Some Facts About Apple Sprays

Most commercial orchardists look to their state agricultural college and experiment station to keep them informed on the proper steps in protecting apples from common insect foes and diseases. But the backyard owner of but a few trees or the small home orchardist who cannot afford extensive spraying equipment may easily neglect this vital protection and thereby fail to enjoy the benefits spraying affords. For these owners of but a few apple trees the following suggestions are offered:

Apply the so-called delayed dormant spray when apple buds show silver but before the tiny leaves begin to protrude. This application is essential to destroy scales, control aphids and prevent apple eggs from hatching. Lime-sulphur is recommended at the rate of 1 part concentrate with 7 parts water, with nicotine sulphate (40 per cent strength) added at the rate of one-half pint to 50 gallons of spray. If dry-mix lime-sulphur is used in the place of the liquid concentrate, mix at the rate of 15 pounds to 50 gallons of water with the nicotine added at the same proportion. Do not delay this important application until apple leaves open, else foliage injuries may result; do not apply it too early, as many aphids will survive and later menace the trees.

The second application of the regular apple schedule is called the "Pink" or cluster-bud spray. It should be applied promptly when most of the cluster buds have separated but before blooms begin to open. However, it need not be omitted if several blooms are open. It is designed to prevent scab and mildew and to control bud moth, curculio and other chewing insects. Use lime-sulphur at the rate of 5 quarts of concentrate to 50 gallons of water, or rather with sufficient water to make 50 gallons of spray, adding 1½ pounds of arsenate of lead after first mixing it with 3 pounds of hydrated lime. If dry-mix lime-sulphur is used instead of the concentrate, mix it at the rate of 3½ pounds of powder to 50 gallons of water, with arsenate of lead at the same advised rate.

*Sprays Should Be Timely

FIFTH ADVANCES
IN ITALIAN HILLS

Rome, March 7 (AP)—American mountain troops have gained five miles in the rugged Apennines southwest of Bologna in the strongest advance on the Fifth Army front in weeks. Allied headquarters announced today.

The action was officially described as "a most successful limited objective attack."

Striking northeastward west of the Pistola highway three days ago, the Americans have captured a number of dominating peaks and the town of Castel D'Alano, 20 miles from Bologna. More than 1,200 prisoners have been taken.

The attack began at 7 a. m. March 3 under a 20-minute artillery barrage and with air assistance. Headquarters permitted disclosure of the assault only this morning.

Birth will be a time for cheers,
Death a cause of sighs and tears
All are dreading.
And two families will rejoice
And endorse the happy choice
At a wedding.

What men now admire in men
They'll admire and honor then.
In that better world they plan
Work will be the lot of man.
Strong and clever,
Able, clumsy, witty, wise,
By some useful task to rise,
Will endeavor.

Unto fortune, come what may,
There will be no easy way.
Grief and sorrow will remain,
There still will be loss and gain,
Peace and fury,
And for those who would evade
All the regulations made,
Judge and jury.

Better world! 'Twill happen when There's a better race of men.

Today's Talk

LIKE YOUR WORK
I have noticed that those who have a love for the work that they do are always the best and most efficient workers. I am reminded of a sentence I read that Robert Henri, the fine American painter, said before his class one day: "Like to do your work as much as a dog likes to gnaw a bone and go at it with equal interest and exclusion of everything else."

There is much being said these days about "the manpower shortage," but if everyone worked as Henri suggested, much of this problem would solve itself. There are too many people complaining when they should be working. These boys of ours in the front lines, experiencing hell in all its horrors, are expending themselves. Their mind is upon but one thing—to end this tragic war in the quickest possible way. They do not like their job, but they know that they have to do it—and they are doing it.

I have never known anyone who liked his work, and gave his all to it, who wasn't happy. That is the only path to happiness.

When our interest is high, and our heart warm in what we do, we do well. We have no time in which to worry or to complain. The enthusiastic worker inspires everyone about him. He lights up the morale of everyone within his area.

We can never hope to reach perfection—but we can always be on our way!

These are serious and troublesome times. Let us keep our chins up. Let us not falter in what we do. Let us give of all that we have to give. We must keep ever in mind that we are important—every one of us—and that we are engaged in making a better world in which we hope that all may freely and justly live.

Thomas Paine once stated that "wherever liberty is, there is my country." He never thought that he wasted his life by expending it for this high purpose. He liked his job of teaching men to work and live for freedom.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Lasting Life Value."

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and
The Gettysburg Times

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Mehring-Geiselman: Walter T. Mehling, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Marshall Mehling, of Gettysburg, and Miss Roxie E. Geiselman, daughter of Mrs. Michael Geiselman, Hanover, were married in Baltimore on Saturday, by Rev. James W. Wallace.

Addelberger-Cluck: On Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the Reformed parsonage in Arendtsville, Roy Albert Addelberger and Miss Savilla Cluck, both of Aspers, were united in marriage by the Rev. T. C. Hesson.

Money Cannot Rent Houses: Real estate men here estimate conservatively that there are between seventy-five and a hundred families seeking homes in Gettysburg who will be compelled to live elsewhere for a time at least until the houses and apartments which are under way can be completed. Persons living in houses, which rent for $18 a month have been offered $25 by families who wish to come here.

Singing Chaplain Speaks: Students of the Theological Seminary were greatly impressed Tuesday night by an address delivered to them by Rev. Ross H. Stover, pastor of Messiah Lutheran church, Philadelphia, who told of his method of personal appeal that he used effectively while serving as a chaplain in the Army. Rev. Mr. Stover, the "singing chaplain," stated that success in any kind of work depended upon the amount of energy and enthusiasm each chaplain put into it. The senior class at Seminary will accompany Rev. Mr. Stover to Philadelphia in order to study rescue mission work.

Farm Sold: Adaline Jane Coshun has sold her farm in Mt. Joy township, known as the Pine Crest farm, containing sixty-three acres, to C. R. Fissel.

Duncan Re-Appointed: Charles S. Duncan, Esq., has received notice that the United States Senate had re-appointed him postmaster in Gettysburg for four more years. His term commenced on Thursday.

Mr. Duncan was first appointed postmaster here in April, 1914, shortly after the new edifice on Baltimore street was completed.

Named Yard Master: Monroe Weiser, for the past few years baggage-master of the Western Maryland Railroad and more recently clerk in the freight office of the same company was promoted to the position of yard-master made vacant by the resignation of Martin McSherry some time ago.

Young Ladies Selected: Eleven young ladies of town will leave Monday afternoon for Mechanicsburg to take a two weeks' course of training in the silk throwing plant of the J. H. and E. K. Eagle company. They will return here in time for the opening of the Gettysburg factory. Those selected are: Misses Clotilda Myrick, Elizabeth Slonaker, Edna Smith, Ruth Miller, Myrtle Furney, Stella and Carry Kemper, Virginia Steinberger, Carrie Hardman, Bessie Reed and Edith McKendrick.

Raise Town Employees: In response to demands from its employees the town council has decided to raise their wages from thirty to thirty-five cents per hour.

Secretary Kitzmiller, of the town council, has been ordered to send out notices to Chambersburg street residents of the assessments for their curbs.

Stop Subscriptions: No more subscriptions for stock to the Lincoln Trust company will be received according to members of the executive committee. Several weeks ago at a meeting of the stockholders it was decided to increase the capitalization figure from $125,000 to $150,000. $163,000 has been subscribed, of which $13,000 will be returned to various persons in order to decrease to the stipulated amount.

Wilson Out for First in Months: (By Associated Press) Washington, March 3—President Wilson went for a motor ride today leaving the White House grounds for the first time since he was ordered to bed last October by Rear Admiral Grayson, his physician, "a very sick man."

The President was accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, Dr. Grayson and secret service men, and took a spin around the "speedway" along the Potomac.

Personal: Howard A. Knouse has returned to his home near Gettysburg, from Pennsylvania State college, where he has completed an eight weeks' course in horticulture.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Billheimer announce the birth of a son.

Thomas George and James Tolson, of the American restaurant, are visiting relatives in Mahanoy City for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleason Fair, near Gettysburg, announce the birth of a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ridinger, Hanover street, announce the birth of a girl.

Professor Fred Troxell has returned to Steelton after spending the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Troxell, Sr., Hanover street. Mrs. J. B. Duckstad has returned to her home on Carlisle street, after spending several days in Baltimore.

AMG TAKES OVER GOVERNMENT OF CONQUERED CITY

Cologne, March 7 (AP)—This great Rhineland metropolis which once numbered almost 800,000 inhabitants, woke up today to find itself under an American military government setup headed by Lt. Col. John K. Patterson of Riverside, Calif.

Patterson himself did not yet know how many cellar-dwelling civilians still remained in the ruins of the city, utterly devastated by three years of heavy aerial bombardment. Some estimates ran as high as 150,000 and some as low as 10,000.

An advance echelon arrived here last night seeking quarters for the military government. Like scores of other army outfits, however, they'll have to take the best basement they can find.

Handpicked Last Fall
One of the AMG's first tasks will be to register every person found in the city. There have been reports of German soldiers donning civilian clothes in an effort to escape capture, and these must be weeded out.

A multitude of other problems await the AMG. Virtually all public utilities have been knocked out. There is no electric nor telephone service, no running water and no form of public transportation. Patterson and his staff were hand-picked for the Cologne job last September and have been memorizing details ever since. Most of them already have had experience with the AMG in France and Belgium. All will perform functions closely allied to their jobs in civilian life before the war.

The Fellowship Of Prayer

"For They Shall See God": "Blessed are the pure in heart; for they shall see God." Matthew 5:8. Read John 14:15-21.

There is another possible translation for the "pure in heart"; that is the "cleansed" in heart. Either translation stresses a great truth. We never see anything clearly through the windows of stained desire. Most of all any clear vision of divine love and goodness is impossible to those blinded by the sense-stained or the self-assertive. So much doubt is only the far-reaching shadow of our own proud spirits.

Put it another way: moral integrity is the cardinal demand of Jesus' ethic. The pure in heart see God because, set free from selfish desire, they are open to the vast and encompassing suggestion of God's order, through which they see the gleams of His presence and His power. This they know is their Father's world and intimations of His nearness shine through every window of the soul.

Prayer: Fulfill in us, our Father, we beseech Thee, the blessedness of the pure in heart. Forgive in us whatever clouds our spiritual vision and so cleanse us in affection and desire that we shall walk in the light of Thy presence neither weary nor doubting. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Some Facts About Apple Sprays

Most commercial orchardists look to their state agricultural college and experiment station to keep them informed on the proper steps in protecting apples from common insect foes and diseases. But the backyard owner of but a few trees or the small home orchardist who cannot afford extensive spraying equipment may easily neglect this vital protection and thereby fail to enjoy the benefits spraying affords. For these owners of but a few apple trees the following suggestions are offered:

Apply the so-called delayed dormant spray when apple buds show silvery but before the tiny leaves begin to protrude. This application is essential to destroy scales, control aphids and prevent apple eggs from hatching. Lime-sulphur is recommended at the rate of 1 part concentrate with 7 parts water, with nicotine sulphate (40 per cent strength) added at the rate of one-half pint to 50 gallons of spray. If dry-mix lime-sulphur is used in the place of the liquid concentrate, mix at the rate of 15 pounds to 50 gallons of water with the nicotine added at the same proportion. Do not delay this important application until apple leaves open, else foliage injury may result; do not apply it too early, as many aphids will survive and later menace the trees.

The second application of the regular apple schedule is called the "Pink" or cluster-bud spray. It should be applied promptly when most of the cluster buds have separated but before blooms begin to open. However, it need not be omitted if several blooms are open. It is designed to prevent scab and mildew and to control bud moth, curculio and other chewing insects. Use lime-sulphur at the rate of 5 quarts of concentrate to 50 gallons of water, or rather with sufficient water to make 50 gallons of spray, adding 1½ pounds of arsenate of lead after first mixing it with 3 pounds of hydrated lime. If dry-mix lime-sulphur is used instead of the concentrate, mix it at the rate of 3½ pounds of powder to 50 gallons of water, with arsenate of lead at the same advised rate.

'Sprays Should Be Timely
The third apple spray is applied when most of the bloom petals have fallen. In fact, it is called the petal-fall spray. Use the same strength materials recommended for the second apple application. Do not delay too long or codling moth larvae (apple worms) will escape control; do not apply too early or bees will be poisoned at their vital work of carrying pollen. In other words, be ready to apply the petal-fall spray promptly when each variety of apples is ready.

Repeat with similar strength materials three weeks after the petal-fall application.

Young apple trees not yet come into production need not be sprayed with the full program. Aphids should be killed off whenever they appear on small fruit trees, and such diseases as scab should be combatted with an effective fungicide any time symptoms are seen.

There may be several days difference in proper time to make the applications for apples for the various varieties. Therefore, timeliness should be stressed.

Too much emphasis cannot be placed on the factor of thoroughness in spraying. Especially should the foliage in the top of trees be coated carefully.

Readers are invited to write the editor for all further information desired on the subject of apple sprays.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, March 7 (AP)—During the basketball season you've heard a lot of complaints that the game gives tall players an unfair advantage, but why not raise the same point in connection with baseball pitchers?

A perusal of Earl Hilligan's invaluable American league red book shows that most of the hurlers are more than six feet tall, stretching up to 6-5 for Pinky Woods of the Red Sox.

Five others are only an inch shorter and only 26 of the 117 pitchers listed are less than six feet tall. . . . The only real little guys are Detroit's Stubby Overmire and Marino Pieretti, a Washington rookie who hails originally from Marila, Lucra, Italy.

They're both 5-7. The same clubs present five-eighths Roy Henshaw and Milton Heafner. . . . Maybe mere height doesn't mean a lot, but when you put those tall fellows on top of the pitcher's mound, baseball obviously is offering a big guy some sort of an advantage.

OH, YEAH?
Ray Dumont, commenting on his $5,000 war bond prize for the nation's leading "non-professional" hitter: "The main reason I put up that bond was to get more youngsters to sign up on our fourth nation-wide registration day. If the five-grand bond falls to interest the kids, I'm going to quit having brainstorms."

SHORTS AND SHELLS
Lou Little has polled some 450 football coaches' opinions of proposed changes in the football rules. Lou won't reveal the results but comments: "I don't see how the rules committee can ground that." The University of Illinois ticket office received 20,315 orders for seats to the state high school tournament. Only 2,500 were available for the general public.

Pitchers Clyde King and Claude Crocker, who jumped—or fell—from the University of North Carolina to the Dodgers last summer, have been playing with the Tarheel "B" basketball team to keep in shape. . . . When boxing's service athletic fund (Michael S. Jacobs, pres.) started paying for phone calls for wounded soldiers, the first call from Camp Shanks went to Mike Jacobs. The guy who drew it, Pic. Ira Hirsch, is Mike's nephew.

RADIO PROGRAMS

New York, March 7 (AP)—Listener preferences in programs, as indicated by the latest Hooper ratings, are continuing Bob Hope and Fibber McGee in first and second, but are shifting considerably as to some other shows. Joan Davis jumped from tenth to third place, radio theater dropped one point to fourth and Bing Crosby went down to seventh from fourth.

Charlie McCarthy and Jack Benny, in the past snuggling around the top, were fifth and tenth, respectively. To complete the first ten, District Attorney, fifth last time, fell to ninth. Screen Guild moved from ninth to sixth and Walter Winchell dropped one place to eighth.

tractors for the disinterment of bodies from the many crude graves on the field. Work began on the transfer of the dead on October 26, 1863, and a total of 3,512 bodies were removed from the trenches and other temporary burial places until the work was completed in the spring of 1864.

Mr. Allison said that there now is a total of 3,841 persons buried in the National cemetery. That includes the dead of the Civil, Spanish-American and World Wars I and II as well as 26 wives of veterans. All of the Civil War dead in the semi-circle arrangements have been buried with their heads toward the center of the circle.

Traces Park History

Describing the battlefield park, Mr. Allison told how it was begun in 1864 when the Battlefield Memorial association was incorporated by the state. Several state appropriations for the purchase of battlefield land aided the organization in its purpose and then in 1895 Congress passed an act transferring the holdings of the Memorial association to the government.

It was after 1895 that the hard-surfaced roads were constructed on the field, he stated. The government erected the steel observation towers at five spots on the battlefield in 1896. In 1898 West Confederate avenue was constructed and in 1900 East Confederate avenue was built. Other high spots in the field's history included the 50th Anniversary Reunion of the Battle of Gettysburg in 1913 when 55,000 veterans of both armies camped here and the establishment of Camp Colt, a tank training center, in 1917 on the ground over which Pickett's charge was made.

Dr. Stewart announced that the name of Homer Young had been omitted as a member of the county history committee when committee appointments were made at the February meeting.

recorded was 71.7 feet in 1884 and the third 69.9 in 1913. Relief agencies in the Cincinnati area were taxed heavily and the American Red Cross reported 5,000 to 6,000 families evacuated from their homes on both sides of the river.

Blankets and supplies were rushed here from headquarters of the Army's Fifth Service Command at Columbus, O., and the Coast Guard moved in with planes, helicopters and communications trucks to aid stricken communities.

Emergency status was ordered for the Ohio state guard and more than 20 companies were mobilized.

One of the four bridges leading from Cincinnati to Kentucky was closed; transportation facilities within the city were suspended over some regular lines, while others were detained.

Millcreek Valley, industrial heart of Cincinnati, struggled against a flank attack by the Millcreek itself. Nullified efforts of the state guard and recruited laborers who worked by floodlight, truck headlights and bonfires to raise the partially built barrier dam across the mouth of the creek.

Flood At Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh, March 7 (AP)—Swirling flood waters from the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers approached their crest at Pittsburgh today, forcing hundreds from their homes in nearby communities and curtailing war plant production. Forecaster W. S. Brotzman of the U. S. weather bureau predicted the waters would reach a high level of 35.5 feet late today. Such a stage would not do serious damage in Pittsburgh's downtown area, affecting only riverfront streets.

Tributary streams over western Pennsylvania were ebbing slowly, the rate of the rise of the two big rivers was declining, and colder weather brought snow to the watersheds. The weather bureau reported 2.82 inches of rain fell here since midnight Monday.

About 20,000 war workers were reported kept from their jobs by the high water.

Second Marriage

By EVELYN MURRAY CAMPBELL

YESTERDAY: Cynthia tells her family that she has been invited to spend the summer with a friend in Wisconsin. Much to her surprise they are eager for her to go. Her faithful Ned however, urges her to marry him and go away on a real honeymoon. Before she knows it, Cynthia is quarreling with him and hot, bitter words pass.

Chapter 3

Ned stumbled off to his car and Cynthia turned to the door with hot tears of shame. "I must be crazy," she told herself. "I'm not like that. I couldn't be. I hate him for saying it and I hate myself for talking back. So this is all I've meant. Just a silly woman playing at being a mind and a brain—inside the door she collided with a soft body that was Maud avidly eavesdropping the quarrel.

"Cynthia, aren't you ashamed?" She hissed softly with no shame on her part for open spying.

"You haven't had a woman's life since Fred passed on. The bills would have been paid some way if you had stayed home with your house and your children."

Cynthia shut her door and turned on the light. The blue satin puff on the bed stirred and Edris sat up blinking between plaits of pale yellow hair.

"Oh, mother, I want to sleep with you. When you go away it'll be so lonely. Do you think Mrs. Holt would mind very much if you brought me with you?"

Cynthia's anger faded with the soft arms around her neck. What more did she need than her three? They were enough fulfillment. But what a beast Ned had been to say that she was one of those horrid females who had to have a man in her life to be really happy!

Anne Holt used her lakeside cottage as a retreat when money was scarce or an affair of the heart went wrong. She was thinking out the details of her third divorce she told Cynthia the first evening. Wisconsin was such a wonderful place to think in. Her mind would be perfectly clear in much less than a month and she would know what to do about Roger. There was no doubt but that she already knew and that the question was merely of ways and means to make the best settlement.

Anne hadn't changed through the years. Her face was soft and guileless and the knowledge in her eyes was captivating and impish.

"How have you managed?" she asked with her old little grin. "About marrying, I mean. With your looks and the money you make you must be awfully clever. One is so apt to be sunk with men as they are. I shan't do it again for ages—but that doesn't mean twelve years. You're monastic, Cynthia, and it frightens me. Is it contagious?"

Cynthia laughed. "Not contagious," she said. "You have to be born that way."

There were always men where Anne was and dinner at the Inn presented one of two rather nice ones. Husbands, of course, and college boys on vacation and the dinner and dancing was pleasanter than it was at home in her own rather stodgy circle. Thinking it over as she undressed she decided that it was because her partners had been younger than Anne and herself. Anne was clever. She amused herself with her juniors but married older ones.

Anne sat cross legged on the foot of the bed and watched Cynthia brush her hair.

"You dropped years tonight," she said dreamily. "Try and drop some more tomorrow. The Winslow lad will help you, I imagine."

"Lad?" Cynthia turned around, forgetting to brush. She was shocked. "Is he as young as that?"

Anne shrugged. "You can be a lassie if you want to. Of course Carey isn't a lad but he knows how to pretend that he is. It's a system—the play system—just having fun. You can forget all about the insurance business if you let Carey show you how."

Cynthia in a turquoise bathing suit with her hair loose about her face let Carey Winslow show her how to play, yet it was nothing but looking at her with half closed eyes, a look she hadn't seen for centuries, it seemed.

"Tell me about yourself," he said. "Not your mother or your grandfather. Yourself." The way he said it meant that nobody else in the world mattered.

Cynthia blushed and discovered that she couldn't talk about herself though it had never been difficult before. She was inordinately mixed up with the insurance business, the children and Aunt Maud and after her companion had so thoroughly scotched her family as a topic, wild horses couldn't have made her mention them.

At first she had been a little awkward, not knowing how to speak his language but she got over that. He knew how to make her feel young and gay and foolish with his extravagancies which became so real when he said them.

Carey had a little brown body, agile as a whippet, polished by sun and water. He had very white teeth in a lean dark face and keen dark eyes that saw everything. But none of this was what really counted. He could be a man and a boy and she was never quite sure where one began and the other ended.

"I must be mad," she said to her burning cheeks when she saw them in the mirror.

But she wasn't mad and before long she stopped telling herself that she was.

Everything was fun. The best was canoeing over to the island and cooking breakfast with Carey—Anne wouldn't get up in the morning, not even for a new husband.

Carey was expert at whatever he did and in twenty minutes his fresh-fry caught fish were in the bacon camp meal and only ordered Cynthia about occasionally. For the most part she sat hugging her knees, just watching him, his hair that gleamed in the sun and the quick flash of

Flashes Of Life

THE FATAL THROU

St. Petersburg, Fla. (AP)—A winter visitor walked against a red light. Then he impeded progress of a car. Thirdly, he thumbed his nose when the driver remonstrated.

The driver was a plainclothes officer. The visitor forfeited a $5 traffic bond in city court.

SMOKE UNRATED

Chicago, (AP)—Albert Wronski's plan of saving hundreds of red ration points went up in smoke. The improvised smokehouse Wronski had built on the rear porch of his home to cure meat was destroyed by fire.

FIGHTING WORDS

Omaha, Nebr. (AP)—Omaha police said that a soldier they found wandering along a street was unable to fully explain his disheveled condition. He told them, the officers said, he had called out to his eyes that turned unexpectedly to her and caught her looking. She called it fun but it was happiness as she had never known happiness. It was a drug that bemused her senses until she lived in a dream.

TROJANS RALLY TO DOWN WEST YORK HI 56-35

Staging a big second half rally after being completely outplayed in the first half, the Chambersburg high Trojans laced West York high 56-35 on the Gettysburg college court Tuesday evening before approximately 1,000 fans in a District 3 PIAA semi-final contest.

Coach Beard's Trojans looked like anything but champions in the first half when the scrappy and small West York outfit played them off their feet, leading midway in the second period 16-6.

Late in the second period Chambersburg began to show the form expected of them and three goals by Joe Howard and two by C. Leshner pared the West York lead to 18-16 at half time.

Trojans Take Lead

Chambersburg quickly took over the lead in the third period and was never in danger thereafter. M. Leshner landed a deep shot which was followed by a pair of fouls by Howard and a goal by Palmer. Shelton looped a pair of fouls for the York countians and then the Trojans poured six straight goals through the hoop before Shelton netted two in a row for West York. At the close of the third quarter Chambersburg led 37-24.

The Trojans showed their best form in the last period and scored almost at will.

Chambersburg, heavily favored and apparently confident at the start, was given a rude surprise by the speedy play of the York outfit. After Palmer had placed the Franklin countians in front with a long shot after a minute of play, Zuver netted a short chuck after Leib missed a foul. Brown looped a one-hander and Zuver netted a short loss to send West York ahead 6-2 after three and a half minutes. Chambersburg missed shot after shot under the hoop and were considerably troubled with West York's zone defense and fast breaking offense. The first period ended 14-6.

West York Fades

Shortly after the second period got under way Brown netted a goal and it took four minutes before Howard landed a one-hander for Chambersburg. The Trojans then began to click and were soon on their way to victory.

Columbia high, Lancaster county representative, pulled a big surprise by nosing out Steelton, Central Penn loop hillists, 41-39 Tuesday evening. The Trojans and Columbia will meet at Hershey Friday night for the district title, now held by Chambersburg.

Philadelphia, March 7 (AP) — Freshman Robert Carlson had never seen a college basketball game until he started the '44-45 season as a starting player for Penn. Last night, Carlson received the Penn Basketball club's Kieffaber cup as the Army-whipping championship team's most valuable player.

Philadelphia, March 7 (AP)—Ray (Sugar) Robinson, who has never yet gone wild with joy over the prospect of fighting husky Joe Basora, called off another scheduled Robinson-Basora tilt last night—"spinal-medicine-for-diagnostic-purposes." The bout had been scheduled for Monday night in Convention hall.

COLUMBIA WINS OVER STEELTON IN BIG UPSET

By TOM SHRIVER

Harrisburg, March 7 (AP)—Thirteen teams moved into the final round of play for PIAA district basketball titles last night with only two mild upsets noted.

The Baker's Dozen winners join with Sayre, district four; Somerset, district five; and Erie Tech, district ten, the first three teams to achieve final berths in the state-wide eliminations.

Radnor, recent winner over Havertford, meets Glen-Nor tonight in a district one semi-final, while Beaver Falls clashes with Ford City in a district seven contest at McKeesport.

The biggest surprise in the semi-finals was furnished by Columbia, winner over Steelton 41-39 in district three. Columbia could not win the Lancaster county title, bowing to New Holland, a class B team, but staged a last half rally against the Steamrollers that brought them victory.

Donora's score of 62-29 against Connellsville came a mild upset, especially after the Cokers had eliminated Duquesne, last year's state champions, in an earlier district seven contest. Bradford won from Ridgway by an identical 62-29 score in district nine.

Two of the state's undefeated teams, Shamokin in district four,

Devore New Grid Coach At Notre Dame

South Bend, Ind., March 7 (AP)—Another alumnus has been added to the roster of former "Fightin' Irish" who for decades have been directing the football fortunes beneath Notre Dame's golden dome.

He is John Hugh Devore, Irish line coach for the past two years—and Notre Dame's third head football coach and athletic director in as many seasons.

Devore, football co-captain at Notre Dame in 1933, and an Irish end three years, yesterday was appointed acting athletic director to succeed Ed McKeever, who resigned and Huntington in district six remain unbeaten as they reach the district finals.

Put yourself in his shoes

Suppose there weren't enough money to bring your child into the world? In a tearful, dejected letter, Pvt. R.'s wife told him she was going to have a baby. There wasn't enough money to pay for medical care and hospitalization. Helpless, Pvt. R. appealed to the Red Cross. In a few days he received word that they had assisted his wife in applying for emergency maternity and infant care.

Suppose you were wounded, disabled, jobless and discouraged? A Marine Private, he was wounded in the South Pacific and discharged for disability. He went home discouraged at the prospect of making his living again. Unable to take up his former trade, in desperation he appealed to the Red Cross.
They put him in touch with the proper agency—he's doing swell, now.

The Red Cross can't do this work without your help!

The actual cases outlined above illustrate just a few of the thousands of ways in which the Red Cross helps our fighting men—at home and overseas. But without your help there would be no Red Cross to do this humanitarian work. For the Red Cross is wholly dependent on the money that you and other sympathetic Americans contribute. And after three years of war, the work of your Red Cross is greater than ever.

Think of the pain and suffering you can alleviate by your contribution—and how proud you can be of your part in this heart-warming work. Won't you give all you can?

Suppose your mother were ill and without funds? Seaman T. M. received word his mother was desperately ill and without money. He remembered advice he'd heard and went to his Red Cross Field Director who requested the boy's local chapter to arrange for care. They did. Now, anxiety lifted, Seaman T. M. is a better fighting man. Another example of your Red Cross in action.

Suppose your son were taken prisoner of war?
Imagine the anxiety of the parents of Pvt. E. D., who had had no word from him in months. The Red Cross sent a welfare inquiry. And then the International Red Cross reported that he was healthy and well, and was receiving regularly the American Red Cross packages that helped keep up his spirits. Your money gets the packages to him.

Suppose you were dying for want of blood plasma? The shrapnel and fragments from a shell burst riddled Sgt. R. J. M.'s left arm. He was losing blood fast. A medical corpsman administered first aid and Red Cross blood plasma. Then they carried him to the field station and gave him 8 more pints of plasma. Without it, he would have died.

Suppose you couldn't bring yourself to tell your family you'd lost your leg? He hadn't told them he'd lost his leg... Dad and Mom would take it too hard. But they were coming to see him in the hospital. He appealed to a Red Cross worker to break the news for him. It was a tough job, but she did... and soon Mom was holding his hand while Dad was telling some funny things that had happened back home—and Sgt. J. T. was smiling happily.

TROJANS RALLY TO DOWN WEST YORK HI 56-35

Staging a big second half rally after being completely outplayed in the first half, the Chambersburg high Trojans laced West York high 56-35 on the Gettysburg college court Tuesday evening before approximately 1,000 fans in a District 3 PIAA semi-final contest.

Coach Beard's Trojans looked like anything but champions in the first half when the scrappy and small West York outfit played them off their feet, leading midway in the second period 16-6.

Late in the second period Chambersburg began to show the form expected of them and three goals by Joe Howard and two by C. Leshner pared the West York lead to 18-16 at half time.

Trojans Take Lead

Chambersburg quickly took over the lead in the third period and was never in danger thereafter. M. Leshner landed a peep shot which was followed by a pair of fouls by Howard and a goal by Palmer. Shelton looped a pair of fouls for the York countians and then the Trojans poured six straight goals through the hoop before Shelton netted two in a row for West York. At the close of the third quarter Chambersburg led 37-24.

The Trojans showed their best form in the last period and scored almost at will.

Chambersburg, heavily favored and apparently confident at the start, was given a rude surprise by the speedy play of the York outfit. After Palmer had placed the Franklin countians in front with a long shot after a minute of play, Zuver netted a short chuck after Leib missed a foul. Brown looped a one-hander and Zuver netted a short toss to send West York ahead 6-2 after three and a half minutes. Chambersburg missed shot after shot under the hoop and were considerably troubled with West York's zone defense and fast breaking offense. The first period ended 14-6.

West York Fades

Shortly after the second period got under way Brown netted a goal and it took four minutes before Howard landed a one-hander for Chambersburg. The Trojans then began to click and were soon on their way to victory.

Columbia high, Lancaster county representative, pulled a big surprise by nosing out Steelton, Central Penn loop tilts. 41-39 Tuesday evening. The Trojans and Columbia will meet at Hershey Friday night for the district title, now held by Chambersburg.
